

What is Livestock Registration?

Livestock registration is a FREE program offered by Multnomah County Animal Services (MCAS).

This program enables MCAS officers and dispatchers to notify owners of stray livestock without resorting to impounding animals or transporting them. The program reunites stray livestock with owners promptly and efficiently. Registering livestock reduces injury to the animals, and damage to fencing and property for which livestock owners may be liable.

Livestock registration is required by the Multnomah County Ordinance (13.308).

How Does it Work?

When our dispatchers receive a call concerning loose livestock, the dispatcher will compare the description given with all livestock registered in that area. If a match is discovered, the owner will be notified. This system reduces costs and prevents the damage or injury that may occur with livestock transport.

Livestock registration is available for free to all livestock owners in Multnomah County.
